Crnich Research Program, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Department of Medicine, Division of Infectious Disease & William S. Middleton VA

- Oversees personnel, budget, and research direction for infectious disease physician Dr. Christopher Crnich's research program including managing five grant funded projects (AHRQ, CDC, WI DHS, Merck) and leads all communication and reporting with sponsors.
- Co-investigator, co-author, and manager of successfully funded grant (PRIDE-LTC) to pilot a remote prospective audit-and feedback (rPAF) electronic health record intervention for antibiotic prescriptions in Oregon nursing homes.
- Co-Investigator, co-author, and manager of successfully funded Wisconsin Department of Health Services CDC grant involving a work systems evaluation of antibiotic stewardship information systems in nursing homes (RAISIN), and successful implementation of an educational collaborative for infection preventionists at Wisconsin nursing homes.
- Leads mixed-methods and qualitative grant writing, data collection, analysis, and manuscript writing for all current and future projects.
- Presented our group's work at local, regional, national, and international conferences.
- Co-authored six published manuscripts, first/senior authored eight abstracts, co-authored 11 abstracts.
- Supervised six employees, supervises all graduate (MPH, PharmD, PhD) resident, medical, and undergraduate students on our research team.

Crnich Program Manager & Health Services Researcher, Sept. 2019-Oct 2021

Crnich Research Program, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Department of Medicine, Division of Infectious Disease & William S. Middleton VA

- Oversaw all personnel, budget, and research direction for Dr. Christopher Crnich's research program.

- Directly managed numerous large projects including an AHRQ funded hybrid type-2 effectiveness-implementation study, evaluating a UTI Improvement Toolkit in nursing homes (NHs), and second AHRQ funded mixed-methods study evaluating interventions to optimize antibiotic prescribing on transition from hospitals to long term care facilities (LTCF).
- Assisted in writing and acquiring a three-year, multisite, mixed-methods evaluation study of antibiograms versus WISCAs to improve antibiotic prescribing in NHs via the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ).
- Co-designed, wrote, and successfully acquired a university-sponsored COVID Rapid Response Grant involving a work systems analysis study of telemedicine in NHs to enhance physical distancing measures during the COVID-19 pandemic (63 interviews with stakeholders: residents, clinicians, staff, admins, LTC orgs, sub-specialists, 15 telehealth observations)
- Leads qualitative and mixed-methods data collection, analysis, and manuscript writing for four projects.
- Supervised four employees, two residents, one fellow, three MPH students, three pharmacy students, and mentored five undergraduate students.
- Co-authored four published manuscripts and co-authored two abstracts.

Associate Health Services Researcher, Jan. 2017-Sept. 2019

Wisconsin Surgical Outcomes Research Program, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Department of Surgery & William S. Middleton Memorial VA

- Managed the development, coordination, implementation, and completion of all existing and planned future research projects for three PIs specializing in surgical oncology.
- Collaborated with VA stakeholders (programs, providers, patients) to develop an educational intervention about obesity treatment options.
- Led the piloting of an educational intervention for a VA randomized controlled trial with overweight and morbidly obese Veterans.
- First authored a qualitative manuscript describing patient motivations for pursuing medical weight management or bariatric surgery.
- Assisted PI with grant writing, literature reviews, and manuscript submissions surrounding patient-centered outcomes.
- Supervised MPH student (2019) field research, database manager, residents, medical students, and mentored high school summer interns.

Assistant Health Services Researcher, May 2014-Dec. 2016

Wisconsin Surgical Outcomes Research Program, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Department of Surgery, William S. Middleton Memorial VA

- Managed the coordination, implementation, and completion of all existing research projects for two PIs specializing in surgical education and bariatric surgery for morbidly obese patients.
- Led weekly team meetings, managed project data, including designing collection and storage protocols, databases, regulatory compliance, survey design, and ensured data consistency/security.
- Assisted in the development, coordination, and management of a surgical education program study for surgeons learning new surgical procedures.
- Conducted research studies on Wisconsin's obesity epidemic and bariatric surgery referral rates to inform state government and local insurance plans.
- Coordinated and conducted over 80 interviews with patient and provider stakeholders on barriers to obesity management in the VA and analyzed the data for synthesis.
- Co-authored eight published manuscripts, six abstracts, and first authored two abstracts.
- Presented lab's research findings at departmental, local, and state conferences.

- Supervised MPH student (2016) field research, database manager, residents, medical students, undergraduates, and mentored high school summer interns.

Project Manager & Data Analyst, Aug. 2013-July 2014

DoIT Academic Technology, University of Wisconsin-Madison

- Designed and organized data collection protocols, including surveys for an Educational Innovation grant.
- Collected, maintained, and analyzed programmatic data for dissemination at the campus level.
- Wrote and presented data summary reports for campus administrators.

Data Analyst, Nov. 2013-Jan. 2014

Broad Based Knowledge, LLC San Francisco, CA

- Coded and analyzed survey data on an open-source online homework management system called Webworks.
- Summarized, displayed, and presented findings.

Instructional Technology Specialist, Aug. 2012- Aug. 2013

DoIT Academic Technology, University of Wisconsin-Madison

- Designed, built, and evaluated the use of interactive online learning objects for over 15 faculty and staff across campus including the Schools of Letters of Science, Veterinary Medicine, Pharmacy, the Law School, and UW Health and Clinics.
- Collaborated with engineers, programmers, and usability testers to develop and evaluate educational games.
- Conducted focus groups contributing to research on the usability of e-textbooks in the UW System and coded them for review.
- Compiled and analyzed preliminary data for an Educational Innovation grant for UW-Madison's Academic Technology Initiative.

Program Manager, May 2011-May 2012

American Indian Studies Program (AISP), University of Wisconsin-Madison

- Collaborated with AISP faculty, affiliated faculty, and staff on student retention and faculty recruitment.
- Supervised and managed two undergraduate student workers.
- Coordinated the American Indian Studies 34th Annual Storytelling Event, recruiting native storytellers in addition to co-authoring proposals and grants to support the event.

Teaching Assistant, ANTHRO 104, Cultural Anthropology & Human Diversity, Jan. 2011-May 2011

Department of Anthropology, University of Wisconsin-Madison

- Designed and created lecture and discussion content including literature reviews, graphs, PowerPoint lectures, and review worksheets.
- Mentored students inside and outside of class and explained anthropological concepts, outlined fieldwork research guidelines, and provided extensive preliminary feedback on their ethnographic fieldwork projects.

Research Assistant, Sept. 2009-May 2010

Meriter Hospital, Quality Control, Department of Infectious Diseases

- Conducted daily patient rounds to inspect the presence and effectiveness of infection control procedures such as signs, chart stickers, and waterless gel signs in patient rooms.
- Completed daily observations and evaluations of medical and non-medical staff to conduct quarterly evaluations.
- Educated physicians and nurses about violations of hand hygiene and personal protective equipment procedures.
